

Plus Size Women - How To Shop For The Right Suit

By: Tim Lee 1. Choose dark colored suits to give you the illusion of thinness.

Wearing dark plus size suits would hide your bulges. It would give you the illusion of a curvaceous figure and make you look a bit thinner than your usual self.

Dark suits are also good since they give a sense for formality and strength. They also would help you highlight your beautiful skin and the neatness of your entire wardrobe should you be able to pull it out well.

2. Wear suits that are cut perfectly for your body type.

Plus size suits come in different shapes. Make sure you choose the right cut for you to complement your body perfectly. Although it would be nice to experiment with the different cuts, there are some which may not be very good for you.

It would be nice to have those pleated suits at times, but make sure that they perfectly fit you, other wise you would look too big or your bulges would show if you do not choose well.

Hip hugging suits are also nice, but if you have huge hips they might not be that very good for you, since they would highlight your huge hips. Then you may choose those that are not so hip hugging but cut above the hip, to remove the highlight on the hip.

3. Have your suits tailored.

Having your plus size suits tailored would definitely give you the suit that you want. If you have your suits tailored, the seamstress or the tailor would take the exact size of your body. You would be able to make your own demands about how the suit would look like and what things you want the suit to have.

Having it done by the tailor would help you get the suit perfectly suited for you body. Everything would be perfectly fitted for you and the designs that you want to have in your suits can be made by the tailor.
