

Where to Buy Flattering Plus Size Women's Clothes

Today the majority of American women are plus size, wearing a size 14 or more. Sad thing is that a lot of plus size women don't know how to dress to flatter themselves. Many designers of plus size women's clothes have fabulous styles and designs. There isn't any reason for any woman to cover herself in a shapeless sheath or tent dress. Today's plus size women have a lot of reasons to celebrate their fashion. Whether you're in the market for plus size active wear, suits, plus size intimate apparel, plus size dresses or plus size swimwear you have a lot to choose from. Even thin women dread bathing suit time. For plus size women the choices are on many. Designers like Delta Burke, Longitude and Carol Wior offer flattering, colorful fun swimwear. Plus size women are no longer stuck in black bathing suits. Color and pattern can fool the eye and give an illusion of slimness even better than black. Two piece suits like tankinis offer plus size women better fit and comfort. If you have a special event to attend and are looking for plus size formal wear you're going to find some really sexy and flattering dresses and gowns. From lace to satin to velvet Igigi has plus size women singing their praises. Igigi has a fabulous collection of plus size formal wear as well as casual wear and career wear. Plus size suits are offered by many designers such as Avenue, Catherine's, Jessica London, and Lane Bryant. A suit is a wonderful slimming fashion choice. Some fashion experts say that every woman, not only plus size women, should wear jackets. Especially if you're plus sized a fitted jacket with princess seaming can give you a defined shape. Also, for business choose plus size suits with knee length skirts. Make sure the jacket hits just below the hip. This length covers any problems at the waist and unlike long jackets like dusters, a hip length jacket doesn't make you look short. Look to Danskin, All American Comfort and Only Necessities for plus size active wear in sizes that run up to 44W (6X). You'll find comfortable exercise tees, tops, pants, leotards, tights, and sports bras. Some have speciality fabrics like quickdri and quickwik. Some offer terry and fleece jogging suits. Some online stores that carry plus size active wear are Junonia and One Stop Plus. Take advantage of today's plus size women's clothes and express yourself beautifully.
